UN1CO

bag

Are you ready for UN1CO world?

UN1CO bag is a backpack specifically designed for FTTH installers. Bring your splicing machine and everything you need with you, every day. Improve your productivity.

Cushioned shoulder straps and back, adjustable straps, top handle: UN1CO bag is designed to help you to carry your materials with maximum comfort.

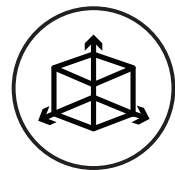

Large compartments, closures designed to avoid jams during use, resistant: UN1CO bag allows you to keep methodically all your equipment.

Not only you will avoid to bring with you more bags, but you will have all the tools in its place and at your fingertips: maximize your job.

UN1CO bag is more than a backpack: it is an individual operating kit that allows you to maximize the operability of your interventions on the field.

The rich dimensions (60x40x20 cm) of UN1CO bag are those that are needed to have everything you need to operate autonomously on the field.
